Acucare Group and Slone and Associates announce a tactical partnership.

As part of its current strategic initiatives, Acucare Group announces a new comprehensive approach to talent acquisition, through giving organizations the means to use one “Center of Excellence” for all services and solutions.

For over ten years, Acucare Group has focused on quality service and built strong alliances through relationships with successful organizations worldwide. “At Acucare Group we strongly believe that human resources are a basic element of the organizations’ wealth and outstanding performance” states Peter Chaalan, President and CEO of Acucare Group.

Acucare Group was established to respond to the critical needs of its clients, to reengineer processes that provide clients with strategic direction in planning and to implement innovative business and clinical solutions. Acucare Group is the first integrated healthcare consultancy firm that enables business insight and analysis thus delivering solutions that fulfill forward-thinking organizations’ needs. Its approach is to focus on understanding clients' needs first and then matching solutions to meet those needs. Through our partnerships and alliances Acucare Group delivers results through vision, leadership, efficiency and compliance while it equips clients to be market leaders in the rapidly changing and highly competitive business world.

Slone & Associates is a leading national healthcare search firm with offices in Washington, D.C. and Miami, Florida. It specializes in the recruitment of technical, clinical, administrative and business development professionals. This specialization provides the customers with unparalleled access to an astonishing pipeline of executive talent. Slone & Associates’ savvy, drive, and passion for customer service have produced stellar results. In addition to providing quality candidates, Slone & Associates will be available to assist in writing job descriptions, provide frequent updates on all searches, thoroughly screen and prepare all candidates and professionally negotiate offers.

Acucare Group and Slone & Associates are excited to work together to provide recruitment services through our Center of Excellence. Together we can be of assistance with highly experienced search professionals and a strong commitment to delivering value.

” Perfection, fortunately, is not the only alternative to mediocrity. A more sensible alternative is excellence. Striving for excellence is stimulating and rewarding; striving for perfection – in practically anything – is both neurotic and futile”. Edwin C. Bliss
